

Welcome to the GHS ER rotation for medical students.

Prior to starting the rotation, you should receive a schedule of shifts you will be working. Please come to the rotation with appropriate dress (scrubs suggested), stethoscope, but mostly a good work ethic and desire to make the most of your time.

On your first day, present to the TEC registration desk or the charge nurse desk (J desk). Introduce yourself and ask for the ER physician work area. You should be brought to the staff physicians and residents on duty for the shift and will be set to start working.

You will be assigned to work with a resident for your shift. You will follow that IM or FP resident as they interview and examine patients, discuss plan of care with staff physicians, and review lab and radiographic studies. Furthermore, you will have the opportunity to discuss these radiographic findings with staff radiologists.

The work space is crowded so bring only a small bag of essentials. The ER/Radiology break room is available for your use and has a fridge for a lunch, microwaves, and basic utensils.

Good luck on the TEC experience and have fun.

Any problems with the schedule or rotation can be discussed with your coordinator or by emailing the TEC student coordinator at RSZink@gundersenhealth.org.

Sincerely

Robert Zink, MD.
